NOTE: This award was taken over by the Canadian Library Association in the late 1980s. Before that time, members of SLA formed a committee, gathered complimentary copies of YA books from Canadian publishers, and read the books. Then they made the selection. The winner was given a leather bound copy of their book with a gold leaf logo on it. Funding was on a shoestring, but the committee did apply to the Canada Council to do a short province-wide tour with the winner.
