The Multitype Library Board is excited to support this pre-conference session Building Bridges: Neurodiversity in the Library Space.

Join us on May 7th at the University of Saskatchewan for an engaging and thought-provoking workshop that reimagines the library as an inclusive haven for neurodiverse patrons and staff.

The afternoon includes presentations, an opportunity to network and a tour of the Murray Library's innovative low-sensory room. Let's work together to build a library culture that values diversity and fosters belonging for all.
